Hey, Hay! Palm Desert Is Set for a Gala Day

PALM DESERT — The big Saturday night Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce valley-wide homecoming party will feature Western food, Western entertainment, and 35 bales of hay for the neighbors to sit on for a spell.

Despite the hay, guests are urged to come by horseless carriage, because the hay seats might disappear if the neighbors arrive on horseback, Don McNeilly, chamber manager said. He emphasized plenty of parking is available for cars.

The event will start with happy Merriod Young, local restaurateur. A veteran of chuck wagon dinners, Young will feature both beef and ham, with Western ranch beans, pan bread, and "all the trimmings."

Entertainment, featuring Curt Massey and Martha Tilton plus "Country" Washburn in 8:30 and 10 p.m. shows, will be given alternately with dancing on an 800-square-foot dance floor in the Welcome Oasis parking lot. Intermission entertainment will include honky-tonk pianist Henry Escher, and folk-singer F. X. McDonald.

"This is scheduled as a family event, with the type of wholesome, fun entertainment suitable for everyone including the youngsters," McNeilly promised.

Tickets for the complete evening will be available at the entrances. Admission is $4.50 for adults, $1.50 for children.

NEWS in BRIEF

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—The three judges pondering a verdict in the Adolf Eichmann case have given no indication since the trial adjourned last Aug. 14 when they will hand down a judgment. At the conclusion of the four-month trial it was announced that a ruling on Eichmann's fate would not be delivered before November.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service said today that current levels of radioactivity "do not warrant undue public concern."

But it added that fallout from the current Russian nuclear tests "will add to the risk of genetic effects in succeeding generations."

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today the Department of Motor Vehicles would mail out seven million civil defense pamphlets with next year's registrations.

He said the pamphlets would be part of the state's program to tell people what to do in the event of nuclear catastrophe.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Carroll B. Kearns, R-Pa., said Wednesday the new federal minimum wage law had cost some low-paid employees their jobs — just as its foes predicted.

The new law, in operation seven weeks, established a wage floor for the first time in some retail establishments. Another provision raised the minimum wage for previously covered workers to $1.15 an hour and ultimately will raise it to $1.25 an hour.

Alarmed UN Nations Urge Bomb Appeal

General Assembly Action Demanded on Spreading Fallout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Eight small nations alarmed by spreading radio-acting fallout today urged quick General Assembly action on a U.N. "solemn appeal" against Russia's planned 50-megaton nuclear explosion.

The eight nations were sponsors of the appeal, which was approved overwhelmingly Wednesday night by the main political committee. The sponsors asked that the full assembly, which must take final action, give the item top priority.

It was not immediately certain that the assembly could fit the item into its morning session. Officials said the schedule was so full that no further action was planned on the membership of Mauritania and Outer Mongolia recommended for membership by the Security Council Wednesday night. They were accepted in a package deal that was expected to have the indirect effect of keeping Communist China out of the United Nations for at least a year.

Mongolians Admitted
The package deal culminated patient behind-the-scenes negotiations of several months. The 11-member council first voted 9-0 to admit Communist Outer Mongolia, with the United States abstaining and Nationalist China not participating. Then it voted 9-1 for Mauritania, with Russia abstaining and the United Arab Republic opposing because of Morocco's territorial claim to Mauritania.

Russia did not try to hide its anger over the political committee's nuclear decision, and many delegates were skeptical that the "solemn appeal" would do any good toward preventing the 50-megaton blast.

Vote Overwhelming
The vote of 75-10 with one abstention climaxed a daylong procedural wrangle in which the Communists were defeated on several filibustering points of order. Cuba sided with the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Mali abstained.

The overwhelming vote reflected the growing alarm among nations over the arms race and fallout caused by the Soviet tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin accused the eight sponsors of hypocrisy and aiding the "aggressive policies of the Western military bloc." The sponsors were Canada, Denmark, Iceland, Iran, Japan, Norway, Pakistan and Sweden.

CARL SANDBURG, poet and Lincoln biographer, is shown visiting President Kennedy at the White House. Sandburg praised the Chief Executive to newsmen later, saying,

"The way he is going is almost too good to be true. There were never more formidable circumstances for a Chief Executive to face." (UPI Telephoto)

Bullwhipping By Youths in Palm Springs

Two husky teen-age youths were arrested on suspicion of assault with intent to do severe bodily harm after the pair allegedly attacked two men with fists and a three-foot bullwhip in the 100 block of East Amado Road here at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

In custody is Don Scott Wilson, 19, of 45-676 Panorama Road, Palm Desert and a 17-year-old companion. Wilson is five feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 200 pounds, and his youthful companion is five feet eight inches, and weighs 212 pounds, police said.

Attacked with the whip was Lloyd Pickens, 35, of Los Angeles. His brother, Arthur Pickens, 27, of 334 N. El Segundo, was attacked with fists, police said. The attack was stopped when patrolman Quincy Welch arrived on the scene, and found Lloyd Pickens struggling on the ground with the stocky 17-year-old. Arthur Pickens was warding off the older boy on the other side of the car driven by the two.

The victims told officers the youths had blocked their car in a parking lot, and attacked them when they asked to be let out from their parking spot.

A witness told officers the pair had previously attacked another pair of men in a parked vehicle, beating the driver and subsequently kicking in the car window on the left front door.

Palm Springs School Board Meet Tonight

The Palm Springs Unified School District board will consider possible aid to the city of Palm Springs in acquisition of a park site adjacent to the proposed section two school, during the 7:30 p.m. board meeting today in the high school music room, 2248 E. Ramon Road.

In a memorandum to the board, Dr. Dwight E. Twist, district superintendent, said that funds in site acquisition "may be used for this purpose, providing the board is willing to defer acquisition of certain school sites which not be needed within the next three years."

The city, in a letter from City Manager Dan Wagner, had asked the board's aid in purchasing the park site, for dual city-school usage. The city would subsequently repay the district, in four installments. The site, approximately seven acres, may include three extra lots which could be sold to defray a portion of the estimated $60,000 purchase costs, the city council was told Oct. 16.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko sounded the latest call for talks Wednesday at the 22nd Communist party congress and Soviet broadcasts and newspaper reports played it up big today.

Gromyko said the Soviet government "spares no efforts to find a common language with the Western powers on the question of a German peace treaty," but he gave no hints as to specific items the Russians might consider bargainable.

He said that if no agreed solution was reached, Russia would sign a peace treaty with East Germany alone.

Tone Rather Mild
Nevertheless, observers considered the tone of the speech relatively mild and they noted he mentioned nothing about a year-end time limit.

Gromyko said that in his talks with Dean Rusk earlier this month in New York and Washington, the American secretary of state said "he fully shared the aspirations of the Soviet government for peace and on behalf of the American government Rusk expressed hope there will be found ways to secure peace throughout the world."

Price, Wage Controls Slapped at M-M Meet

"Nothing can destroy the manufacturing business as much in the United States as price and wage controls established by the government, in fact it would be much better to have inflation."

This statement was made by Milton Friedman, professor of Economics at University of Chicago, speaking to conferees at the meeting of the Merchants and Manufacturers at El Mirador hotel today.

Friedman said that as a solution to wage and price controls, the government might come up with a tight monetary control, even by doing away with the gold standard, but he is fearful of government controls within the next year and a half.

His talk concerning the dropping of the gold standard indicated that the U.S. "has had no gold standard for the past 25 years," and that the drain on the U.S. gold supply has been so high that the country will reach a crisis within the next year and a half.

Deviating briefly from this thinking, Friedman, in answer to ques-

Demonstrate Open-Border Intentions

Crossing Point Remains Open After Incident

BERLIN (UPI)—The United States sent a civilian car escorted by a convoy of three Jeeps of armed soldiers into East Berlin today in a demonstration of American determination to keep Friedrichstrasse crossing point open to Western traffic.

The incident this afternoon developed after a U.S. official in civilian clothes riding in an official Army sedan was turned back by Communist guards during the morning. He switched into an Army uniform and later drove into East Berlin without difficulty to deliver a message from Berlin's American commandant to the Soviet commander.

Before and after the two incidents, the Friedrichstrasse crossing point remained open to traffic, with cars passing back and forth in both directions.

A State Department spokesman said the Russians were informed two hours in advance that the Americans were going to send the automobile through. He said the Russians were asked to send a Soviet officer to the border in case it was necessary to verify the identity of the civilians in the automobile, since the United States refused to deal with the East Germans. The Russians did not send a representative.

The car's occupants were a driver in civilian clothes and Irwin Firestone, Pittsburgh, Pa., Russian-speaking head of the military police liaison office. He was the civilian also involved in the incident this morning while he was on his way to deliver a message from Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, Berlin's American commandant, to Col. A. V. Solovyev, his Soviet counterpart.

Five minutes later, the civilian car started through the Communist checkpoint, only to be stopped at the eastern end by Red police.

Lt. Col. Robert Sabolyk, the U.S. provost marshal, and a first lieutenant went over to the car and brought it back. A few minutes later, Sabolyk went back, asked for a Soviet officer, and was told none was available.

Carl Sandburg Raps Ike on Speech, Life

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Poet and Lincoln biographer Carl Sandburg has called former President Dwight D. Eisenhower history's most ungrammatical president and the sheltered product of a "welfare state" life in the Army.

He said Wednesday it was a relief to watch President Kennedy for whom he forecast a place among the nation's great leaders. The 84-year-old poet said welfare state was a dirty word to Eisenhower, but that from the time he left a boyhood creamery job at Abilene, Kan., to enter West Point, Eisenhower was protected from all normal hazards like looking for work.

"He has yet to know the people of the United States," said Sandburg at a news conference at the Library of Congress, where he formally opened the library's new Civil War centennial exhibit.

Earlier in the day Sandburg went to the White House for a chat with Kennedy.

Afterwards, he said "the chances are entirely that he (Kennedy) is going to rate as one of the great presidents. He's a great relief from the press conferences of Dwight David Eisenhower, the most ungrammatical president we've ever had."

Underground Test Purposes Seem Peaceful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What does the United States hope to learn when it stages the world's first nuclear explosion aimed at harnessing the atom's violence for peaceful purposes?

President Kennedy Wednesday announced plans for the underground test. He invited all members of the United Nations, including Russia, to observe the experiment, scheduled in about two months.

A nuclear device equal in power to about 5,000 tons of TNT will be set off 1,200 feet underground in a rock salt bed 25 miles south-east of Carlsbad, N.M.

Seek Power Source

Scientists hope to determine: —If heat generated by underground nuclear explosions can be tapped for production of electrical power by plants on the surface.

—If such explosions can be used to manufacture valuable radioactive materials for use in industry, agriculture, medicine and science.

—New facts about the nature of nuclear energy and the fission process which is the basic reaction of atomic weapons and power reactors.

—Widely varied information of vital importance to future uses of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes and to seismology, including seismic detection of underground weapon tests.

Foreign Observers Welcome

Foreign observers are welcome to go to New Mexico and attend scientific briefings on the experiment and its results, but they will not be permitted to examine the nuclear device.

John S. Kelly, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's division for development of peaceful uses of nuclear explosives, said the device would be a stockpile weapon or a "replica."

The United States has staged many underground nuclear weapon tests in Nevada. But the New Mexico shot will be the first by any nation for primarily peaceful purposes.

Michael Karp, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Karp, 1042 Tachevah Drive, suffered a compound fracture of his left arm at 11 a.m. Wednesday, when he tripped while jumping a pillar on the Katherine Finchy school grounds.

Michael was admitted to Desert Hospital, where his condition is reported good today.

ALMANAC

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Oct. 26 the 299th day of the year with 66 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1825, the Erie Canal, the first of the great man-made waterways in the United States, was opened for traffic. It extended from Buffalo to Albany, N.Y., and connected Lake Erie with the Hudson River.

In 1920, Terence Macswiney, lord mayor of Cork, Ireland, died in a prison cell after fasting for 75 days. His hunger strike, said to be the longest in history, represented his demand for complete independence for Ireland.

In 1955, South Viet Nam was proclaimed a republic.

A thought for today: Norwegian dramatist Henrik Ibsen said, "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

SOVIET U.N. representative Semyon Tsarapkin pounds the table and loses his temper as the delegates in the General Assembly's First Political Committee voted to give first priority to a "solemn appeal" urging Russia to cease its testing of nuclear bombs. (UPI Telephoto)

Salton Sea Land Change

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Holly Corp. of Dallas, Tex., will acquire full control of most companies involved in the Hesperia land development and 90 per cent of all Salton Sea development firms under a $3.5 million stock transfer approved Wednesday by the state Division of Corporations.

The Texas firm will acquire the properties from the Downtown Management Corp. of Beverly Hills.

State consent was required because the two Southern California companies are now in escrow in a sale to Downtown Management Corp. from M. Penn Phillips, the original developer.

Death in Cathedral City Suicide, Deputies Say

CATHEDRAL CITY — Sheriff's County Coroners office will not hold an inquest.

Moss, who lived at 38-738 Bel Air Drive, was found by deputies laying on the patio of his home, after they received a call from neighbors complaining of a drunk causing a disturbance.

In tracing the victims actions of the evening, deputies learned from neighbors that Moss had apparently been to the Rainbow Room on Broadway earlier and was taken home by an unknown friend prior to the apparent time of death, estimated between 6:30 and 7 p.m. Tuesday night. The time was estimated on the report of neighbors who said they heard automobile backfire or gunshot during that time.

PLEASE, DAD DON'T BELIEVE THOSE RUMORS!

Dad, I have always been honest with you. I never have told you a lie, and I never will! Around Palm Springs they're saying I must be some sugar daddy's baby, simply because I like nice things and do my utmost to get them. Now how come they say such things? You know how much money I get because you give me my check every month. I guess these nasty rumors started when I had my car waxed and those nasty rumors continued because it was washed every week and always looked like new. "Who's your sugar daddy?" someone asked (jokingly, of course). They thought I spent a lot of money. Well, I didn't father. I had my car waxed for $14.95. (I forget whether they used Simoniz or Blue Coral) and my washes cost me only $1.20 each because every 3th wash is free at the INDIAN AVENUE CAR WASH, 300 North Indian Avenue. Split in Red Bloc Seen in Albanian Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's bitter attack on tiny Albania could precipitate an important split in the Communist bloc, according to Soviet affairs experts here.

This is one admittedly speculative judgment based on a study of proceedings at the 22nd congress of the Communist party now being held in Moscow.

Another view expressed was that Khrushchev successfully carried the day with his doctrine of peaceful co-existence and abandoned his deadline for a German peace treaty because it promised to embark him on a course which could lead to war.

Experts here also foresaw further humiliation for Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, Mikhail G. Pervukhin and other members of the so-called "anti-party group" denounced by Khrushchev.

They might be drummed out of the Communist party, some experts said, and perhaps—although it seems unlikely—tried for their alleged misdeeds against the state.

Taken all in all, Khrushchev's 13 hours of speeches were regarded here as relatively mild.

Cars Cleaned of $175 in Clothes

Two cars were cleaned of $175 worth of clothing which had been prepared for the laundry, Palm Springs police were told late Wednesday.

President Plans To Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, faced with a prospective federal deficit of nearly $7 billion, told his cabinet today that he intends to spend "substantially less" than Congress authorized for the current 12 months.

The White House did not say how big a cut Kennedy will make in expenditures. But Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said this would be reflected in the mid-year budget review which will be made public Sunday night.

Kennedy, in a long statement to the cabinet and a group of 13 agency heads gathered in the White House, urged them to cut down all spending commitments "not absolutely necessary to the national interest at this time."

He also said he believed the government could function efficiently with fewer employees than Congress voted funds for. The White House declined to say whether this meant a reduction in the present federal force or a freeze on government jobs.

The President emphasized the need for a slowdown in antirecession spending programmed earlier this year for specific antirecession purposes, saying the recuperative force of private enterprise has reversed the downward trend in income and employment and brought about "steady and strong recovery."

Rangers Rescue Pair Of Girls

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Two girls were "rescued" by the Twentynine Palms and Yucca Valley Search and Rescue Rangers.

The girls were "planted" for the rescue, but the Rangers were not aware of this fact. The volunteers were on a regular training mission in the Joshua Tree National Monument when word was received by radio that the two girls were missing.

Walter Bell of Twentynine Palms contacted the San Bernardino County Sheriff's sub-station and informed them that his nieces had been on an outing and had not returned. The Rangers were alerted at 11 a.m.

Realtors in 29 Palms Hold Meet

TWENTYNINE PALMS — The Twentynine Palms Realty Board at their regular monthly breakfast discussed the new multiple listing service that went into effect after last month's meeting.

Virginia Hurwitz, president, said that because of prior commitments, County Supervisor Ross Dana was unable to attend the meeting.

Following a discussion of general real estate problems, the board nominated a slate of officers for the coming year. Included were: Ralph Fisher, president; Earl Foster, vice president; Walter Loser, secretary; treasurer; and directors Virginia Hurwitz, Elizabeth Handley and Harry Brown.

Sheriff's office here, "planted" the two girls, Sharen Pressnall, 13 and Myra Gardner, 13, in the rocks above Indian Cove. They doused themselves with ketchup and waited for their rescue.

Two rescue units were dispatched by Lt. Larry Pressnall, officer in charge of the Search and Rescue units and the Sheriff's sub-station. Only he and the training officer knew that the operation was a drill.

The rescue squads located the two girls at 12:45 p.m., just one and three quarter hours after the alarm had been sounded.

'Blood'
Members of the squad that located the girls first spotted them from a distance. The ketchup had its effect. They thought that the girls had fallen from the rocks and with the red fluid smeared over their faces and legs, the men were impressed.

When the rescue squads reached the girls and discovered the "plant" they went right ahead, giving them "first aid" and carried them out on stretchers.

The Twentynine Palms and Yucca Valley units are two separate organizations but under the command of the San Bernardino County Sheriff. They occasionally train together, as they did this Sunday morning.

Sheriff Impressed
Lt. Pressnall said that Sheriff Frank Bland of San Bernardino was very impressed by the performance of the two units and suggested a joint meeting again next month that would include the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Mounted Posse.

The sheriff also recommended that the county sheriff's command post truck be sent to the Hi-Desert as well as the mobile field kitchen.

Chamber Seeks Multi-Linguists

In an effort to foster travel by Europeans to the Southwest areas of the United States, Bonanza Air Lines has requested the aid of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce in locating citizens who are multi-lingual and would be willing to serve as hosts and interpreters for foreign nationals visiting Palm Springs.

According to Chamber Manager Jimmy Cooper, high air fares and language barriers are the reasons most often given by Europeans for not touring the United States.

Effective Oct. 1, the Civil Aeronautics Board approved for Bonanza Air Lines the operation of a program known as "Bonanzaland." This, in effect, reduced the high air fares for visitors arriving by common carrier in any city serviced by Bonanza from outside the continental limits of the United States and/or from U.S. cities east of the Mississippi River.

"Bonanzaland" embraces the four golden states of California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah — all of which are served by Bonanza Air Lines. Under the "Bonanzaland" program, a passenger may fly, a many times a she wishes, to any part of "Bonanzaland."

Villagers who are multi-lingual and willing to assist in this program are asked to telephone the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, to volunteer their services. Bonanza will compile a list of such persons throughout the Southwest and provide it to leading travel agencies, air line reservation and ticket offices and government travel bureaus worldwide.

Celebrates Well

TARA, Japan (UPI)—Police today disclosed the case of traffic policeman Shinji Yamaguchi, who celebrated well but not wisely the end of National Safety Week, Oct. 20.

TWENTYNINE PALMS — The regular meetings of the Twentynine Palms Community Council have been changed from the third Thursday each month to the fourth Thursday.

The next meeting will be open to the public and will be held in the Justice Court at the County Building at 8 p.m. today.

Virginia Hurwitz, the newly elected president, cordially invites the public to attend this meeting and present its suggestions and projects to the council. Such projects must be impartial, according to Mrs. Hurwitz, and with a view to promoting a progressive community. High on the agenda Thursday night will be the topic of civil defense in an effort to determine local manpower available in case of national disaster. It will include planning an educational program for survival in the home in case of disaster.

Since the inception of the council about 6 months ago, the group has been mainly concerned with organizational problems.

Newly elected officers to the council are Mrs. Virginia Hurwitz, president; Mrs. Helen Ault, vice president; Mrs. Isobel Emerson, secretary - treasurer. Directors are William Bell, Motel and Inn Association; Ralph Fisher, Sheriff's Reserve; Dorothy Peters, Soroptimists; Ella Jarman, Beta Sigma Phi; and Elizabeth Handley, Twentynine Palms Board of Realtors.

Ban 'The Twist'

NEW YORK (UPI)—They have banned "The Twist" at Roseland, one of New York's big dance halls just off Times Square.

"The Twist," an undulating non-body contact dance popularized by a former Philadelphia rock 'n' roll singer, has recently become a craze with the teen-age set and cafe society alike.

Roseland's founder, Lou Becker, banned the dance because "it is lacking in true grace."

WESTERN DRESS SUGGESTED

on the Sunny Side

by Sue Raymond

Palm Springs must seem wonderful to Harry Walker, Foster Ferguson and Woody Logan, who have returned home after being snowed in while hunting near St. George, Utah.

Since they visited Vegas on their return trip, I am surprised to hear they arrived home with a buck and three doughs.

Susan Paige is the name Hap and Val Seale chose for the new family addition who arrived at Desert Hospital two weeks and two days ago.

The new Monterey Road resident is the great-granddaughter of the August K. Pans and the granddaughter of Evelyn Pell.

Pioneer motion picture exhibitor Adolph Linick of Los Angeles became 32 years young while visiting the Roxbury Drive home of his son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Linick.

Circulation seems to be the key to this spry nonagenarian's youth. He schedules long walks on his daily itinerary and pauses to chat with each passerby. Perhaps he has found that a short exchange of ideas is "the pause that refreshes."

Arsen Alchian, who was recently relieved of some jewelry, found no "rocks" but lots of "yorks" in the crowd, when he did a comedy take-off on Sherlock Holmes in the Signature Room.

His good sense of humor and timing was in evidence when he stopped acquaintances and asked the time. When each accommodating friend looked wristward, Arsen's eyebrows turned upward as he looked at the watch and pretended to detect stolen merchandise.

It's unfortunate that Hat Parade emcee Eddie LeBaron wasn't wearing a hat when he went avocado-picking in his Brentwood home.

The unfortunate occurrence took place while Eddie shook the tree, and Prince David M'Dvni stood by to collect the unloosed loot.

The tree was not as shaken as Eddie LeBaron, when an avocado fell on his nose and broke it!

It's nice to know that the Good Neighbor Policy is still in effect. Because Dave and Annabelle Margolis are adding-on to their Las Palmas home, the neighborhood has been additionally noisy.

Considerably more considerate than most, Dave and Annabelle perked up the spirits of their next-door neighbors, the George Hearsts, by sending them a 12-year-old bottle of Scotch and a note which read: Please forgive us for all the pounding.

Those showing up at North Shore Beach and Yacht Club's Oct. 28th Halloween Party in costume will be treated to an evening of good food and fun, but those daring to show up as themselves will be tricked into paying extra for dinner.

Ginny Simms and Ish Kabibble will entertain all spooks who are set to howl.

Following is an epic titled, "The Egg and We."

Young Allen Iverson had been ducking a fowl situation for a long time.

He had been selling two eggs a day to his Clancy Lane neighbor. The eggs were laid by his two ducks.

However, Allen did not have the courage to taste of his own wares. One day, he and his Palm Valley Schoolmate, Walter Redfern, took a hard boiled egg to school and promised to share it during luncheon.

I haven't heard how they made out when they quacked the egg.

Contemporary Art Gallery Is Opening

The Palm Springs Contemporary Art Gallery opens the new season at the Gallery, 816 North Palm Canyon Drive on Wednesday, Nov. 1, with a preview reception from 6 to 9 p.m.

The Palm Springs Civic Art Association, sponsors of the gallery is presenting a group of top women artists from Southern California. The show will run from Nov. 1 through Nov. 25.

The artists selected have all established reputations for outstanding painting. Many of the artists are teachers at universities and colleges throughout the southland. Around 1250 invitations have been sent out to local artists and association members, and the public is cordially invited to visit this outstanding showing by Southern California women painters.

Xi Thetas Costumed for Halloween

Members and guests came dressed as witches, as bats, as cats and in other weird regalia, when Xi Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its Halloween Party at the Buena Vista Drive home of Mrs. James Mason. But it was Mrs. Duane Paul, masquerading as "Mysterious Sam," who won the prize for the most original costume.

Odd as the costumes were, a model meeting was held at the party, which officially opened the chapter's rushing season.

Final arrangements were made for the fashion show to be held at the Pavilion at the Polo Grounds on Nov. 11, and tickets were distributed to the members. President Marge Hayes displayed some of the prizes that will be given away.

Members and guests enjoying the orange and black festivities were Mmes. Gene Read, John Dill, Tom Claypool and Robert Holt. Also participating were Alice Allison, Hazel Potts, Louise Crooks and Kaye Mason.

Leader Training Course Planned

A Basic Leadership Training Course for Girl Scout leaders is scheduled for Nov. 7, 9, 21 and 28 at the Girl Scout Little House.

New leaders are urged to attend these classes, which will be held, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., on the above dates.

AT A CHAMPAGNE RECEPTION in Chi Chi's Starlite Room the Neil Burnham Williams cut their wedding cake. The bride, the former Diane DeWitt, and groom exchanged their

Diane DeWitt Is Bride of Neil Burnham Williams

The seed pearls set in the crown of Diane DeWitt's graduated veil complemented the seed pearls which edged the sweetheart neckline on her full-skirted, chantilly lace gown, when she became the bride of Neil Burnham Williams.

At Palm Springs Community Church, Rev. Charles T. Brown officiated during the double ring ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

While the bride carried white orchids and stephanotis, the honor attendants carried carnations and wore full-skirted, puffed - sleeve dresses in a shrimp shade.

Julie Anne Stiff, a cousin to the bride, acted as maid of honor, and Carla Black, Sally Stephens and Cherie Cedergren were bridesmaids.

Best man to the groom was Jeffrey Lilley, and his ushers were Ronald Williams, Meredith Helm and Joe Henderson.

Following the ceremony, the bride and benedict were honored with a champagne reception in Chi Chi's Starlite Room.

Carnations encircled the base of the elaborate, three-tiered wedding cake, and a bouquet of carnations centered the hors d'oeuvre table.

A graduate of Palm Springs High School, where she was a Pom Pom girl and a Palm Springs Deb, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeWitt of Vista Chino. She attended the University of California at Riverside.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. LeGrow of San Francisco and attended the Army and Navy Military Academy and Riverside City College.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Las Vegas and are at home at 1798 Loma Vista in Riverside, where the groom is a county employee.

Hundreds of Soroptimists to Attend Fall Regional Conference Here

LIGHTING THE CANDLES on the tea table, Mrs. George Berkey, on left, and Mrs. J. Blake Field prepare to welcome the mothers of Upper School children, who were invited to tea at Palm Valley School. This is the first

By HILLY CRAWFORD
With between six and eight hundred women converging on Palm Springs this weekend for the Fall Conference of Pacific Region Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., to be held in El Mirador, Oct. 27-29, Polly Isenack, president of the Soroptimist Club of Palm Springs, and her committee workers are checking and double-checking arrangements for what is expected to be the biggest conference in the history of Soroptimism.

The Palm Springs club is sharing hostess duties with sister clubs in Indio, Blythe, Banning, Redlands, Twentynine Palms, Riverside and San Bernardino, for the huge convention which will have representatives of Soroptimists' top officialdom headed by Soroptimist International Association president Mlle. Elizabeth Hoer of Switzerland, Federation President Mrs. Dora S. Lewis of New York City, and Regional Governor, Mrs. Edna Wirt Woods of Ventura.

In 40th Year
Celebrating the 40th anniversary of the founding of Soroptimist International, the conference is themed to "Soroptimism, Architects and Builders, Pursue Excellence in Shaping the Future."

Registration begins Saturday morning at 8 a.m. in El Mirador's lobby, with general assembly at 9. Regional Governor Mrs. Edna Wirt Woods will conduct the opening session, which will be welcomed to Palm Springs by Soroptimist President Polly Isenack and Mayor Frank Bogert. During this morning session Federation President Mrs. Dora S. Lewis will deliver the keynote address.

During the luncheon in the Silver Palm Room, Dr. Robert A. Nisbet, vice chancellor of the University of California at Riverside, will speak on "Community and the Pursuit of Excellence." The afternoon session will feature various addresses by top flight leaders in Soroptimism, and the day-long program will be interspersed by "Soroptimists Sing," led by Lois Enid Will.

First Arrivals
Regional officials checked in at El Mirador today and have been in board and committee meetings. They are being entertained at an informal dinner at the Racquet Club tonight.

Numerous social events and sightseeing have been arranged for the visitors, beginning with tomorrow night's Roaring Twenties Party that will be held poolside in the cabana area at El Mirador. Featured at this gala event will be the chartering of a new club, the Hemet-San Jacinto Valley Club. Sightseeing will include a tour of the city.

The reception for the Regional Governor will be held Saturday evening, on El Mirador's Palm Terrace, preceding the banquet, which is being held in Chi Chi Starlite Room.

In Ruby and Pink
Decorations will carry out the prevailing color scheme of pink and ruby for a 40th anniversary, from the handsome banquet programs with the scrolled "40th Anniversary" across the cover, to the cascades of pink roses draped through ruby hoops that will hang in El Mirador's auditorium. The decorations committee is headed by Marie Ford and Luella Coffin. Closing day of the conference, Sunday will begin with the President's breakfast, with regional chairmen and their committees holding a no-hostess breakfast of their own.

Following a devotional service, Clota Bowen, board member of Riverside Council will speak on "Soroptimists, Architects and Builders, Note the Shape of the Nation."

In this final session, which ends at noon, awards will be made for attendance, press books and bulletins, and the finance and credential committees and others will make their reports, before the assemblage of women stands to repeat the impressive Soroptimist pledge in unison to adjourn the conference.

A Regional board meeting in the Governor's suite, that afternoon will wind up one of the most important all woman conclaves ever held here.

FEDERATION PRESIDENT Mrs. Dora S. Lewis of New York City will be an honored guest at the weekend conference of Soroptimists, which will bring hundreds of clubwomen to Palm Springs.

WSCS Plans for Week of Prayer

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist Church of Desert Hot Springs will join with other women of their faith throughout the world, in observing a week of prayer and self denial, Oct. 25-31.

A quiet hour and worship service will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Oct. 27 at the church. There will be an afternoon program from 1 to 2:30 p.m. During the program, five speakers will discuss missionary projects currently underway in foreign fields.

An invitation is extended to all women of the community. Those who attend are asked to bring a sack lunch.

REGIONAL GOVERNOR Mrs. Edna Wirt Woods of Ventura, will conduct the general assemblies of the Fall Conference of Pacific Region Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., to be held at El Mirador this weekend.

Ten Youngsters Attend Party

Only treats were served to 10 youngsters who gathered at Tamarisk Park for a Halloween-themed birthday party, which honored six-year-old Michael McManus, son of Sally McManus of Riverside Drive.

Joining in the party games and coming home with prizes were: Cheryl Ann Bailey, Thurman Arnold Jr., J. R. Clarke, Georgie Vines, Rick Sale, Ricky Janov, Steve Romero, Sarah and Jane Jacob, Mike Churchman and Erin McManus, the birthday boy's sister.

See Red Fallout
Dirtier Than 1958

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia's 30-megaton atomic bomb will deposit as much fallout on the United States as all of the nuclear devices tested in the Soviet Union's extremely dirty 1958 series, experts predicted Wednesday.

The experts emphasized, however, that the amount of radiation still was expected to be within the range considered safe for humans.

Robert List, a Weather Bureau radiation expert, estimated that rains next spring would sprinkle the United States with between 20 millicuries and 25 millicuries of contamination per square mile.

List said much of the debris which remained in the atmosphere has fallen on Russia, which will get the biggest share of the initial fallout. The first of this limited debris is expected to fall on North America Thursday or Friday.

Looking ahead to next spring, other atomic experts said 20 millicuries per square mile represented as much fallout as this country experienced during all of the 1958 test series.

This means the current Soviet series, including a device of a few megatons exploded today, has produced more than twice as much fallout as was generated by all of the 1958 tests.

Zombie Special
Unmanned Train
Set in Big City

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The Zombie Special," a fully automatic, unmanned subway train, is expected to be riding the rails in New York in a few weeks.

A spokesman for the New York City Transit Authority said the train without trainmen will run between Times Square and Grand Central Terminal on a shuttle line.

The Zombie, if successful, may run out to the 1964 World's Fair in Flushing, Queens. The train will replace 12 men who will be transferred to other jobs.

Desert Ministers to Participate
In Oxnard Church Anniversary

CATHEDRAL CITY — The Rev. James Arnold, pastor of the Community Church here and founder of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Oxnard, will join the Rev. Dean Miller, pastor of the Palm Desert Community Church, in participation in the 10th anniversary ceremonies for the Oxnard church at 6 p.m. Friday.

The ministers, accompanied by their families, will be among the guests of honor at the celebration. The Rev. Miller was the second pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, and left the pastorate in August to move to the desert.

The church was founded in an empty tavern in the midst of beanfields which were just beginning subdivision a decade ago, Mrs. Arnold reported. The church now has 400 members and is completing construction of a new church of worship and educational plant.

NO BUGS will "light" here according to Jimmy Cooper, manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce. Sheri Jackson, TV actress, who appeared as Danny Thomas' oldest daughter on that show, inspects the new bug catcher at the Capri Hotel. Using a "black light" and fan, the machine attracts bugs and deposits them in a disposable container. One machine is reported to clear one acre of night flying insects.

PEANUT-SHAPED ALBANIA
IN COMMUNIST SPOTLIGHT

By United Press International

Albania, whose Communist leadership is on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's blacklist, is a peanut-shaped land of snowy Balkan peaks, political purges and baggy-pants peasants.

More Oriental than European, Albania's estimated 1,625,000 people are mostly Moslem, although there is no official state religion.

Bounded by Yugoslavia to the north and Greece to the east and south, the 10,600 square-mile state came into being from two former Turkish provinces after World War I, but it did not have national boundaries until 1925.

The tiny country is ruled with an iron fist by Communist boss Enver Hoxha, who once was an obscure teacher of French in a grammar school on the Greek-Albanian border.

Zog Flees Country
Its former ruler, President Ahmed Zog, fled in 1939 when Mussolini's legions leaped across the Adriatic to invade Albania.

He never returned to Albania. Zog died last summer in France. Hoxha, the leader of fierce partisan resistance against the Axis, took over when Zog fled the country. A British officer who parachuted into Albania to join Hoxha's forces in 1943 described him as a man with "ambition, ability to lead, cunning and insincere when needed, and with no mercy for political rivals."

Some postwar statistics under score this analysis of Hoxha. Of Albania's 14 leaders during World War II, only Hoxha survives. He has run the state for 20 of his 53 years. Of 31 members of the Albanian Workers Party Central Committee — the Communist party — 14 have been killed and only nine have remained since the end of the war.

The party itself has about 53,000 members, about the same as the population of the landlocked capital, Tirana.

Sides With Peiping
Hoxha, who idolized Stalin and the Soviet leader's methods, fell afoul of Moscow when he sided with Peiping in the great ideological debate that broke into the open last year. He supported Communist China in the attacks on Khrushchev's "peaceful co-existence" line, demanded a more militant policy towards the West, and hung portraits of himself and Stalin throughout his craggy land. He also jailed 30,000 political prisoners in 14 concentration camps.

Now, observers say, Hoxha's back is to the wall. By counter-attacking against Khrushchev over Radio Tirana, he has made rapprochement with Moscow impossible. Some experts say that since Hoxha was defended by Red China's Chou En-lai at the current 22nd Soviet Communist party congress, this means Hoxha — with Red Chinese backing — is aiming at a "fight to the death" to oust Khrushchev from world Communist leadership.

GRID HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

Twice - beaten Northwestern, ranked surprisingly in the Number 11 spot in the Harmon ratings, will upset highly regarded Notre Dame this Saturday. The Irish are 12th. And that's the "neck-sticking-out" department for today. (Special apologies to the Indiana Hoosiers, Georgia, the Crimson Tide of Alabama, Oklahoma State, Texas Tech — and a few others — for such an extremely cloudy crystal ball last week!)

Quite a few members of the "Elite Corps" should have no trouble notching victories this week. For instance, Ohio State, No. 3, should gallop at the expense of Wisconsin — about 30 points worth. And 4th-ranked Alabama is a strong 28-point favorite over Houston.

Georgia Tech, ranked 9th in the Top 20, will whip Tulane by 21 points, and Tennessee, just barely hanging on in the No. 20 position, will flatten Chattanooga by 29 points.

Utah State, a newcomer to the select group this week — and ranked 15th — will roll up a 47 point win over Idaho.

And the two top performers — Mississippi and Michigan State — will continue their undefeated ways by rolling over Vanderbilt and Indiana respectively. Ole Miss, back in the No. 1 spot this week will clip Vandy by six touchdowns, while the second-ranked Spartans rack the Hoosiers by 32 points.

However, none of the underdogs are making extensive plans to roll over and play dead in the face of heavily favored opponents. And despite the number of "breathers" this weekend—that's the northern Siberian word for "upset" — many of the Top 20 will be involved in real dog-fights.

The Little Brown Jug will be at stake in a game involving two Big Ten teams rated among Harmon's top 10. The 6th-ranked Minnesota Gophers will keep the Jug in their trophy case for another year as they nudge the Michigan Wolverines, No. 10, by 3 points.

In a big Southwest Conference clash, 5th-ranked Texas is a 14-point choice over Rice. And 8th-ranked Louisiana State, moving up each week, will be a two-touchdown winner over Florida. Also climbing back up the ladder are the Iowa Hawks, ranked Number 7 this week. The Riveters from Purdue will come close, but rate one touchdown below Iowa.

Last week, the average crept back over the 75 per cent mark as Harmon picked 93 games correctly and missed on 30 games (four games ended in ties) for a .756 average. This brings the season's total to 323 right and 178 wrong — average .746.

Unbeaten JV's Invade Wildcat Territory Today

A rugged Junior Varsity team from Palm Springs High School puts its unbeaten record on the line late this afternoon against the JV team at Twenty-nine Palms High School.

Only a 7-7 tie two weeks ago with a big and strong Hemet JV team mars Coach Cal Farley's record in his two-year stint at the head coaching job. And the JV's were stopped only once in the 1959 season so their unbeaten string is now in its third season.

Today's foe in a game which starts at 6 p.m. on the high desert campus of the Wildcats is a mystery to the coaching staff as they have not scouted the team.

Farley's team is in good physical shape off the tough winning endeavor last week against Indio. That score was 7-0 so the Indian bucks have scored only two TD's in the last two games — a low percentage for them.

Earlier wins registered included a 26-6 win over Perris in the season opener followed by a 20-0 blanking of San Jacinto.

Endurance Key To Salton 500

SALTON CITY — According to results of an informal poll taken among the race teams entered in the Salton City 500 Mile Boat Race Nov. 11 and 12, the hotly debated topic is: "it will take more than speed; it will take lots of endurance to win the Salton City 500 — especially in the hot inboard class."

Driver entries continue to pour into race headquarters in Azusa, Calif., reports race chairman Bob Martin. Entries will be accepted up to Thursday, Nov. 9th with the qualifying for class positions scheduled for Friday, Nov. 10, at the Salton City race course.

Salton City 500 Mile Boat Race is sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association over a five-mile course divided into two day heats of 250 miles each.

WHAT TEAMS ARE DOING LAKERS ...

Leading League

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Lakers are off and winging in the National Basketball Association race for two big reasons: Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

Baylor and West are currently the hottest 1-2 punch in the circuit and have supplied the power that has the Lakers atop the Western Division of the NBA with three wins and one loss.

Baylor scored 36 points and West 33 for a total of 69 between them Wednesday night when the Lakers downed the Detroit Pistons, 120-116. It was the second straight loss for the Pistons, who were led by Bailey Howell's 33 points.

St. Louis plays Syracuse and Cincinnati plays the Knicks in a Thursday night doubleheader in New York.

RAMS ...

Lose McKeever

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams have lost the services of their No. 1 draft choice, linebacker Marlin McKeever, for at least a year.

Ram physicians announced their recommendations Wednesday that McKeever not play the remainder of the season because of a face injury suffered in the recent San Francisco Forty Niner game.

The team originally placed McKeever on waivers, but he could have returned to the club within 30 days.

BLADES ...

Take Breather

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI)—The Los Angeles Blades took a breather today from their present nine-game road schedule and worked out strategy for Friday night's return encounter with the undefeated Flyers.

The Blades also awaited the results of a medical on defenseman George Konik who was injured during Wednesday night's game in which Edmonton blanked the Blades, 5-0, before 3,442 hometown fans.

The loss gave Los Angeles a 3-3 record in early season league statistics.

Wednesday night's standout performer was Edmonton netminder Dennis Riggins who made 31 saves for his shutout of the season.

PADRES ...

Join Reds Chain

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The San Diego Padres will enter the 1962 baseball season with a full working agreement with the National League champion Cincinnati Reds.

Announcement of the signing of the agreement was made Wednesday by Eddie Leishman, Padres general manager.

It is the first time that the Padres, of the Pacific Coast League, have been associated with a National League team. They ended a two-year agreement with the Chicago White Sox Sept. 26 and were previously associated with the Cleveland Indians.

Veteran Pros Falling Back In Vegas Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The younger generation, ignoring the temptations offered in the world's greatest gambling city, are giving the seasoned pros the works in the $15,000 Sahara pro-amateur golf tournament.

As the final day of competition got underway today on two courses, there was only one well-known player among the top eight.

The leaders were Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez of Puerto Rico, a tiny, 116-pound shotmaker who powers the ball with the long hitters; and handsome Tony Lema, a slender, tall 26-year-old from San Leandro, Calif.

While they battered par under perfect weather Wednesday, the older and more seasoned pros, such as PGA champion Jerry Barber, former champions Bob Rosburg and Jim Ferrier; former National Open king Billy Casper and many others were far off the pace.

Rodriguez and Lema each posted 134 totals for the first two rounds. Tied at 135 are Billy Maxwell, Dallas; Bob Shave, Wiloughby, Ohio; and Jerry Steel-smith, Glendale, Calif. and at 136 Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., Bob McCallister, Torba Linda, Calif., and Bill Bisdorf, Denver.

Maxwell, the former national amateur king and one of the top money winners in the tour this year is the only well-known man in the group.

The pro-amateur division was led by pro Jerry Priddy, the former major league infielder, with a best-ball of 109 on rounds of 54-55.

Helping out in this group is former Stanford football star Bones Hamilton. Each of the three amateur partners aided by getting a nee-gle on the round.

Tied at 137 in the race are Al Balding, the top pro from Toronto, Ont., and George Bayer, Pasadena, Calif., and at 138 came Tommy Jacobs, Palm Springs, Calif., Jerry Frillman, Park Ridge, Ill., Hulén Coker, Coronado, Calif., and Priddy.

Hathaway Team Still Bowls Hot

Though the outcome was in doubt, John McGarry doubled out in the tenth frame last night and the hot Fred Hathaway team pulled out a 3-1 win over team 1 to continue their torrid pace in the Desert Business Men's League at PS Lanes. Allen Brothers Paving muscled into second by taking a 3-1 win from Industrial Electric, Desert Air Conditioning beat Western Auto 3-1, Security Bank split with El Mirador and Certified Electric split with Bill's Signal Service. Rick Scrums had high series with a 618 and Ivan Tennis had his first sanctioned 500 with 546 and 210 game.

The Cactus Blossom's League leading "600" Coiffures split 2-2 with King Construction to stay in first. Dream Homes surprised Babin Realty 3-1, Ila Mae Salon beat Indianbirds 3-1, and Braselli swept Land of Lamps 4-0.

Mouseburgers in Tennis Opening
At the first Mouseburger Tennis Tournament of the season at the Racquet Club Tuesday night, Mort Ulman and Mrs. Bill Stout walked off the courts as winners.

Runners up were Mrs. Albert Linnick and TV's Bill Stout.

Others playing with the group were Marge and Jack Lambert, Mousie Powell, Dick Ellwood, Louise Steinberg and Maurice Smith according to Racquet Club tennis hostess Julie Copeland.

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON

Teacher of Champions

Good use of your arms, hands and the club requires starting with plenty of ease in your feet, legs and midsection.

ONE OF MY neighbors is an attorney chock full of logic about the law. But none of this quality shows in his golf. Repeatedly he has set aside my instructions about the swing in favor of hitting the ball "his own way." His performances clearly demonstrate that all players, deliberately or accidentally, trying to perform naturally wind up being extremely unnatural.

Evidence is had in the common stunt of gripping the ground with the feet, bracing the legs and holding the breath before starting the backswing. This tightness in feet, legs and midsection definitely is unnatural and makes it impossible to enjoy even a minimum of efficiency in the movements of body, arms and hands.

Most golfers seek immediate comfort and thereby do the wrong things. The correct positions and movements prove the most comfortable after you've become thoroughly familiar with them.

FINE RECORD
CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns have failed to finish first only four times in either the All-America Conference or the National Football League of the 15 years Paul Brown has served as head coach.

MORE HONORS go to Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, left, for his victory last weekend in the Baseball Celebrity Golf tournament. Lowrey earlier earned a watch for winning the baseball players division of the tournament.

Duck Hunting Vacancies Open At Salton Sea

CALAPATRIA — All 150 Wister unit reservations have been sold out for Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Department of Fish and Game's Imperial Waterfowl Management Area here at the southeast end of the Salton Sea, but there is plenty of room for first-come first-served hunters on Sunday, according to the DFG.

About 100 unreserved vacancies are available for Sunday. In addition, any reserved permits not claimed by one and a half hours before shooting time will go on sale first-come first-served.

Located just south of Highway 111 five miles north of Niland, the Wister unit permit station is open at 3 a.m. prior to each shooting day. Shooting days are Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays. The fee is $2 per day for each person 16 years of age or over. There is no fee for persons under 16.

Good Hunting Saturday
On the Wister unit last Saturday, 150 hunters took 295 ducks, 18 geese and nine coots. Species of ducks taken were split almost evenly between pintail and green-wing teal. The weather was overcast and cool and ranged from calm to a very slight breeze.

On Sunday, 128 hunters got 87 ducks, six geese and seven coots. Pintails and greenwing teal again predominated, with the geese equally divided between white-fronted and snow geese. Weather was clear and calm.

Last weekend also saw comparatively light action on the DFG's Ramer unit, which is open only to boat hunting. On Saturday, 13 hunters took 19 ducks and on Sunday 12 hunters bagged 28 ducks.

Company Games Are One-Sided

One-sided matches featured play last night at PS Bowl in the California Water and Telephone Co. league with two 4-0 matches and one 3-1.

The Road Runners and Red Canaries teams blanked Jack Daniels and Longshots, while the Peons were able to salvage only one game from the Tigers. High men's series went to C. Martin with a 484 topped with a 175, while Cynthia Rojo took women's honors with a 443 series and a 156.

In Wednesday night Scratch league, Plaza Motors, Turner Shoes and DiGrandi Upholstery won matches from Curtis Kieley, Vic's Refrigeration and Al Lake Refrigeration.

League Bowling Explosive

LOS ANGELES — "Explosive bowling" is a key word in the new National Bowling League as the loop is rounding out its first month of play.

This newest of professional league puts a premium on "explosive bowling" with a point system which gives the big games — from 250 to 300 — extra and important points in the standings. Under the NBL system, the middle number of any 200 game determines the amount of bonus points earned by a bowler.

Ten Points for 300
The 300 game, which is worth 10 points, didn't appear within the first two weeks of the league. But a 279, the highest during that time, did.

Four other bowlers cracked 270s and a rash of 250s appeared. Bill Pace of Kansas City averaged 251 in one match for the 503 series which is high for league through Oct. 23. The high 279 game was by Fresno's Vern Downing, recorded Oct. 13.

Groucho Marx Says Acting Is a Racket

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"I always thought acting was a racket and now I'm sure of it," Groucho Marx said today.

The caustic Marx brother came to this conclusion after completing the first straight dramatic role in his long (40 years) career in show business.

"I deliberately looked for a serious acting role to prove one of my own theories," he explained.

"My thought has always been that there are thousands and thousands of good straight actors and only 50 good comedians. When I say I'm being generous. Actually there are many fewer than 50 good comics around."

Groucho turned to serious acting by degrees. He will be seen first as narrator of a DuPont show of the week for NBC Nov. 22 in which he is heard more than seen.

In a segment of the "GE Theater" he essays the role of a strict father who refuses to grant his daughter permission to marry. "Acting is easy compared to comedy," he said.

"In a drama you aren't being tested on every line. You can talk for 15 minutes with no reaction from the audience and nobody gets critical. But a comedian has to get a laugh every 40 seconds or he's in trouble."

"I've come to a point in life when I can afford to gamble with my career. I don't have to worry about money anymore. From here on the things I do will be for fun."

Groucho's TV show left the air after 14 years of rampaging success. He refuses to accept situation comedy series offered him.

"I'm too old for that," he said. "Now I watch reruns of the show, but I don't get any fun out of it. The real enjoyment was in doing the programs before a live audience."

Red Germans Face Squeeze In Food Supply

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press International
Communist East Germany may be facing a new and tighter squeeze on supplies of meat and other animal foods.

The first year of fully collectivized farming in East Germany has been a failure. Agriculture Department experts in Washington say that East German farmers will be short of feed for their livestock this winter.

The Soviet Union is expected to help with some increase in shipments of farm commodities. But American experts believe the East Germans will still face the loss of some of their livestock.

Some cattle may starve, one Agriculture Department specialist on eastern European agriculture says.

The specialist says East Germany's poor harvest this year was due to a pair of factors—bad weather and the complete collectivization of the country's agriculture. The collectivized farms, like others in Eastern Europe, reportedly are suffering from poor management. Also, many farmers have fled to West Germany, leaving a shortage of skilled labor. With these troubles compounded by bad weather, East German sources report the country's total grain harvest this year was about five million tons. Last year it was 6 million tons.

The potato crop was short, too. This year's harvest was estimated at less than 11 million tons compared with 14 million tons last year. The drop will have an impact on meat production as well as on the East German potato ration. In East Germany, potatoes are a major livestock feed as well as a staple item in the human diet.

LONDON (UPI) — The London Daily Mirror, under the headline "News From The Udder World," reported that Billy Wallace had purchased a Hereford cow for more than $18,000.

Supreme Court Meets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court meets briefly today to accept or reject a batch of appeals before taking its first two-week recess of the current term. No opinions are expected until next month.

Ag Research Study Due

The Agriculture Department is making a thorough review of the importance of its research programs.

The House Appropriations Committee asked for a study of the importance of current research projects compared with research needs which have not yet been met. The committee also asked USDA for advice on how more research needs can be met cooperatively by the Agriculture Department and other federal, state, and private agencies.

The Congressional request grows out of the fact that Congress is asked every year to appropriate far more research money than administration budgets call for. Lawmakers are bombarded with demands from farm commodity groups, food industry groups, and others, all urging approval of new research projects.

Earth's atmosphere, two or three billion years ago, may have consisted chiefly of methane, ammonia and hydrogen, instead of oxygen and nitrogen.

Respect for Law Must Be Revitalized

Chief of Police A. G. Kettmann has just returned from a bus man's holiday—he attended an international convention of law enforcement officers while on vacation. The chief came home rightly concerned by a new and dangerous trend shown in news dispatches from all parts of the nation and expressed the similar concern of 3,500 senior police officers who attended the sessions.

Violence against law enforcement officers and a growing disrespect for the law has assumed serious proportions. If it continues unchecked by public opinion the lawless days of the 1930s will return. The days when no one felt safe in many of our large cities and neighborhood gangs ruled by fear and intimidation. At that time the situation was saved when an aroused public opinion finally sided with law enforcement officials.

Stories of rioting have been too frequent this summer. There were three serious ones in Southern California alone. While teen-age delinquents predominated in these riots, they were joined in many instances by adults who have failed to grow up. The most serious aspect, according to authorities, was the apathy of the public. Bystanders made no effort to rescue police officers attacked by mobs. In fact, some even cheered on the rioters.

The attitude of the public is puzzling. When people are beset by dangers or their property is threatened they call on police for help. Then the law and respect for it is a fine thing. But when they are in no danger, then they take sides against the law, call police who seek to restore order the Gestapo. This indifferent attitude encourages the hoodlums and goons to carry on. Last year 48 police officers were killed trying to enforce the law. Many more were assaulted. The unexplainable fact is that many of these attacks were witnessed by disinterested citizens, lethargic men and women, who had neither the courage to interfere nor the sense of duty to summon aid.

In recent years there has been evinced a greater interest in the rights and privileges guaranteed American people. Which is proper. But the new emphasis on civil liberties can and has, in some instances, gone far beyond the original intent. Law enforcement officers have come to feel that the courts lean over backwards to give the criminal "all of the breaks." Do-gooders rush in to defend vicious young hoodlums.

Police officers are inclined to believe that this attitude on the part of the public and the difficulties encountered in putting the threat to society away to safeguard the public, is probably the chief reason for the great increase in crime in the nation.

J. Edgar Hoover, the nation's top law enforcement officer, puts it this way:

"Life in a republic is not a mere jumble of rights without responsibilities. Those who enjoy the protection of America's laws have the obligation not only to respect those laws but to assist in their enforcement."

Another Notable Era Comes to an End

Another of the great moguls of the fantastic era of the motion picture world is gone. And Palm Springs suffers a personal loss in his passing.

Joseph Schenk died at his Beverly Hills home last weekend. A home-owner here, he played a leading role in local events in the 40s. During World War II, when many military personnel made Palm Springs their base from Torrey General Hospital, the Air Transport Command and Gen. George Patton's desert training centers, Schenk released his large home on Tachevah Road to the USO. Many a veteran can recall pleasant days and evenings there and many Villagers, who donated their time to the entertainment of the soldiers, will remember Schenk for his generosity.

Cecil B. DeMille, David Griffith, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and now Schenk are gone. They ruled in the days when the "Royal Family" in America was made up of film stars. The great "spectacles," full movie houses and film classics that have been copied but unsuccessfully, came from the minds, imaginations and genius of these men among whom Schenk was a leader.

To him, as with the other Greats of his era, the cinema was an Art. Motion pictures will go on but that was the Golden Era.

Palm Springs can be proud that Schenk was a Villager for the greater part of each year.

Inventors on the Ball

Progress is wonderful. In recent weeks we have read in the newspapers of:

Solid steel sidewalks which light up without benefit of bulbs or filaments, to guide the pedestrian.

Remote control for equipment on the moon—If, and when, we get there.

Electrically heated socks for hunters and fishermen who venture forth in cold weather.

Living room walls that can be tuned in to a desired radio station to surround you with music. (Commercials, too.)

The same walls which will act as TV screens.

Living is going to be made easier for all of us.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Different Codes of Morality Are Shown

WASHINGTON, D.C.—"A biped possessing soul" is an accepted definition of Man, but the New Frontier gets into trouble whenever it tried to insert "soul" into the body politic.

This may appear a forbidding, highbrow subject—but it concerns our American ability to stay alive and to stay incorporated as a nation.

President Kennedy said in his memorable Inaugural Address that we would aid backward nations because it is "right." The decision to defend West Berlin is too often presented as a "moral obligation." The Peace Corps was conceived as an act of international goodwill. The whole Federal welfare program of New Frontier, from hydroelectric dams to dependent children, has an air of good father giving gifts to his children. The palaver about "peace," the Attorney General's rationale for desegregating the South, and (switching to the opposition) the conservatives' refusal to countenance Red China—all these matters, and many others, are argued from a viewpoint which is moralistic—and invalid.

Except in a vague and poetic sense, political entities—including nations—have no soul. This is not to say that they are not human institutions and that they do not retain some attributes of humans. But it is a matter of degree. Neither of our major political parties nor the Kennedy Administration, nor even the United States of America has a life expectancy, a rendezvous with God, a set of emotions, a personal conscience. No country lives by the Golden Rule or the Ten Commandments. Realism is the beginning of wisdom in national affairs. "Every nation is guided by self-interest," writes the Rev. Reinhold Niebuhr, who is much more a theologian than this columnist, "and does not support values which transcend its life. If the defense of these values imperils its existence, a statesman who sought to follow such a course would be accused of treason."

But we are at a point, if not already past it, where the American nation is not guided by self-interest as fully and as invariably as it should be. It is not imaginable that G. Mennen Williams, who represents the State Department on African Affairs, is going to bring home from his trips recommendations that will benefit this country, no matter how they may pain and infuriate the Africans. It's pretty plain by now that Adlai Stevenson, our Ambassador to 98 nations at the UN, has something close to contempt for American nationalism—and is incapable of the gentlemanly rascality which has always been the mark of successful diplomacy. Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles seems to have no waking thought except to diminish this country with share-the-wealth schemes on every continent.

By carrying the moralistic fallacy into absurdity, one might argue (and, in solemn truth, some New Frontiersmen do seem to argue) that we are on the road to heaven. We should love our neighbor, pray for those who hate us, spare those who insult us, give the coats off our backs to the needy, walk the second mile with those who will consent to be companionable.

It would all be true if personal morality were applicable to international relations. But this simply is not so. Mr. Kennedy has not yet been in office a year, but the mistakes he has made in Cuba, in Berlin, in the matter of nuclear testing, in extending the domestic welfare state, are all decisions in which he may have acted as a Christian gentleman, but has not acted as a national leader.

To have machine-gunned Castro's soldiery, to have smashed the wall in East Berlin, to have done the necessary for insuring our overwhelming nuclear supremacy, to have tightened the belt on domestic spending to meet rearmament costs—all would have been reprehensible if JFK were acting for himself.

But acting for the nation, under a completely different moral code, he would have served the country's self-interest by being much more unscrupulous.

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

First, spiked heels
Which floors do mar.
Now, spiked hair —
That's too bizarre.

First, I should know better than try to write something about women's styles. I always lose in the ensuing arguments.

BUT I SAW a picture of a new hair-do the other day that's hard to pass up. Of course, it was just a plug for the Seattle Fair. But you know how it goes. Some woman comes out with something different in a hair-do and, even if it's just a gag or publicity stunt, pretty soon it's the style.

Well, if this should come to pass, women will be a threat from top to bottom. Or vice versa.

RIGHT NOW, it's those spiked heels which constitute a threat to floors. Office managers wait that the girls are punching holes in the linoleum with their sharp heels and are contributing to the delinquency of the upkeep cost.

In some offices regulations are posted and the girls have to come to work with a spare pair of shoes. Change them before they settle down to their desks and make like work. Just like they change shoes before driving an automobile.

THE SPARES are flats. Or, at least, that's what the girl I asked said those low, flat heeled shoes are called.

Now, this hair-do I saw. It's called the space needle and, like the spike heels menace the office floor, this hair-do could prove a threat to the ceiling.

It was shown in Seattle as a boost for the Fair they are going to have there the theme of which is the Space Age.

IT'S NEEDLE SHARP at the top and, even on the average height girl, zooms up to eight and one-half feet. A tall girl could raise her head with low ceilings.

And what a weapon! If a girl with this hair-do happened to be insulted or thought she was, or resented an ill-timed pass, she could just back off a few feet, lower her head, and charge.

Could inflict great bodily injury.

THIS ONE should have been written last week — Newspaper Week — but I just heard it from a friend. It's about the six-year-old West Coast girl who was asked to write an essay on newspapers.

"Newspapers," she wrote, "we need them so we can no who reks and who drowns and who shoots somebody and who wants a house and who dies or gets a baby. It tells if your dog is lost. They are good on shelves and to start fires. They also are good under a baby's plate and to keep dogs offa things. You can wrap potato peelings in them. You can put one out when you defrost. They tell about shows and how much things are."

Outside of the fact that they are also good to line garbage pails, the child pretty well covered the subject.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old son works during his summer vacation. He delivered for a drug store at night, and took care of the neighbors' lawns during the days. He saved about $300.00 and wants to buy an old wreck of a car with it. His Dad saw the car and said it wasn't safe to drive. Besides, his grades are just average, and we don't want him to have a car. He says he earned the money himself, and should be able to do what he wants with it. Is he right or are we?—SONNY'S FOLKS

DEAR FOLKS: As parents, you should have better judgment than your 15-year-old son. Don't permit him to get an "old wreck of a car" if you feel he shouldn't have it. If he wanted to spend all his money on pie, and eat himself sick, would you let him just because it was "his" money?

DEAR ABBY: I am 75 years old. Your stories about the "whistlers" gave me a glow. But I have one that tops them all.

Remember When

OCTOBER 26, 1951

Ted Hannah, county airport executive, said he was confident the CAB would approve feeder air service, including connections to the east from Palm Springs.

Bill Boggess, local real estate broker, was irked today. An unthinking motorist ran into and damaged his bright, newly painted Jaeger and fled without leaving his name.

Climatic conditions which fouled up the city's 400 parking meters have been beaten and the curb toll-takers are functioning again.

OCTOBER 26, 1941

Twelve girls and five boys from Palm Springs High School under direction of Mary Hall, delighted a large throng at the Tennis Club with an aquacade program.

The Rev. Robert Hogarth of Laguna Beach, became vicar at St. Paul's in the Desert Mission. Roy Randolph, dance director, conducted sessions of his Rhumba Club at the Colonial House.

Highest maximum this week was 95 degrees and it dropped to 64 two days later. A minimum of 44 degrees was registered that night.

OCTOBER 26, 1931

Rapid progress was reported on rebuilding the road connecting Palm Springs with the state highway. Two miles of the old road have been plowed up and crushed as a base for the new road which will be five inches thick and 20 feet wide.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford arrived at Palm Springs airport and went to the Desert Inn for a brief stay in Palm Springs.

Twenty to forty acre estates in the Palm Springs district were advertised in The Desert Sun for $150 per acre.

One morning my phone rang. I said, "Hello." A gentleman said, "We are testing the line, Madame, will you please whistle a few notes into your telephone?" I whistled a few notes. Then he asked, "Will you please step back a few feet and whistle the same notes again?" I complied. Then he said, "Now step a few feet to the right of your phone and whistle them again." I did. "Now stand to the left and whistle," he requested. I obliged. Then he said, "Thank you, Madame, you will receive your package of bird seed in the morning." And he hung up. I can laugh about it now, but I certainly felt like an old fool. —M. F. E.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school girl who gets mostly A's. Some of my close friends always ask me if they can copy my homework. I don't want to lose their friendship, but I don't think it's fair that I should sit home doing homework while they're out somewhere, and then give them my answers. Can you tell me how to handle this problem so I won't appear to be mean and selfish? —STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT: Handing out homework is a poor way to show friendship. If your "friends" don't do the work themselves, when test time comes, they'll be stuck. Tell them firmly that you are sorry but can't do their work for them. If you lose their "friendship" because of this, it was a shallow friendship from the start.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Jeff": Watch out! When that girl selects her target, she Mrs. it.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reporter. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Desert Sun

Dear Sir:

May I take a moment to toss an accolade to one of your fine young "merchants."

William Eickelman has been delivering the Desert Sun to me for most of the past year.

He has been doing an excellent job. He is a fine young gentleman.

If he is representative of your entire circulation organization, I would have to say that you have built an excellent service for people who reside in the area of the Coachella Valley.

My nomination for carrier boy of the month is Eickelman.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Plane Defies Storm and Murk for Safe Landing

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The big TWA pilot hunched over his controls as the control tower, somewhere down there in the murk, cleared him for landing. His windshield was painted with the dirty gray enamel of foul weather. Banks of instruments, bewildering to the greenhorn who sat behind the man, glowed in the darkened Boeing cockpit.

"Gear down, twenty per cent flaps," he said to the co-pilot, while his own hands roamed over his buttons, switches and controls like a fine organizer performing at a great console. The sound of the great J-T-4 Pratt & Whitney engines—the sound of 90,000 horses—filtered through the thick hide of the compartment. The nose tilted subtly, and your stomach, a fine altimeter, told you we were descending, so did the co-pilot, chanting every hundred feet of the descent.

"Field elevation seven hundred fifty, ceiling two hundred... on course," he added. The illuminated needles twitched, flicked and spun. Then a bright blue-green eye opened on the instrument panel, and an imperious little cricket-like noise directed additional attention to it.

In Sure Hands
"Over station," the co-pilot called out. We dropped another four hundred feet and the pilot put us into a great sweeping left turn. As we rubbed the grain of the squall the wrong way, the ship bobbed and weaved, but the sure hands of the pilot compensated, corrected. "Forty per cent flaps," he said quietly.

We were half through our final approach when an angry red light blinked on over the pilot's head and a stentorian klaxon pierced the place with a startling cacophony.

"Fire in number one engine!" the co-pilot shouted.

"Fire in number one," the pilot acknowledged. He reached up and pulled down a red switch to fit his hand.

"Hydraulic system off Number One," he said. The red light kept blinking. He touched a button on the witch. "Firing first can (extinguishing foam)." There was no let-up in the urgency of the blinking light. "Firing second can," he said. The light went out. During the entire breathtaking interlude he had attended to the routine handling of the ship.

"Fire out," he said. "Landing on three. On course."

"Leaving one thousand... one thousand," the co-pilot called.

Out of the Murk
We would be breaking out of the stuff now. The stomach was reading the descent as unerringly as the banks of instruments. The pilot squared his shoulders and took a fresh hold on his controls, trimming, easing, babbling the 707. The co-pilot called off the diminishing speed... 160 knots... 155... 150... And then, without warning, the soot that obscured our view began to give way to a chalky white and then—miraculously—we could see. We were hammering along 200 feet over fields and farm houses and, dead ahead, reached the haven of the long runway. Its lights blinked a welcome.

You could feel the resistance of the full flaps and the "spoilers" now, and the engines merely whispered. The pilot edged us a bit to the right as he came "over the fence," and touched down in the first hundred yards of the runway. The compartment shuddered softly as the main wheels touched, and again when the nose-wheel found the concrete. The pilot closed the "clam shells" over the spouting gasses of the jet exhausts, and his big sure hand shoved on the power for reversing action that helps brake the Boeing. He hand-steered the quarter of a million pound vehicle along the strip at better than 140 miles an hour, tapping his brakes.

We rolled to a stop and turned off on a taxi strip. Then we stepped out the door and all went to lunch across the street. We had never been out of the strikingly realistic $1,300,000 pilot-training simulator in TWA's downtown crew-training building.

(Michigan City News Dispatch)

In anxious, uncertain times like these it is well to ponder frequently one vital difference between Russia and America.

It's this: Passing time and the inevitable changes wrought by progress have proven the falsity of many key Marxist doctrines—while adding lustre to the sagacious wisdom and remarkable foresight of America's founding fathers.

Here, then, is a "test of time" which should be the keystone of faith in an American system fashioned upon a sturdy framework of truth, freedom and human individuality.

It should also inspire a continuing search for present-day guidance amid the proven wisdom of our nation's era of conception.

Yet strangely we often scorn this wisdom. Consider one apt example gleaned from the far-sighted words of George Washington.

"Let there be no change in government by usurpation," Washington warned. "This is the customary weapon by which free nations are destroyed. Our government will become despotic only when the people have been so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other."

Can anyone weigh this wisdom against the trends of recent decades without feeling an uneasy sense of guilt? This has been an age of usurpation by government—not by force but by default...

Fortunately it is not too late to retrace the course and find the right path.

How? By reversing the trend toward bigger and bigger central government and restoring the vital, forceful power of individual initiative, industry, self-reliance and responsibility.

This will happen when fewer Americans look to government... and more Americans look more sharply at government.

In his inaugural address, President Kennedy said it all in one eloquent sentence:

"And so, my fellow Americans: Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

This 'Drammer' Jerked Just Too Many Tears

Television In Review
By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Under ordinary circumstances, I quickly forget a TV play like "I Remember a Lemon Tree."

For one thing, Monday night's "Ben Casey" episode on ABC-TV was stacked too heavily on the side of trite, tear-jerker meller-drammer. In unblinking, ample evidence during this hour were such slurring and bubbly ingredients as the young brain surgeon who is a junkie. He's also dying of leukemia but trying to keep it a secret from his colleagues and his bride. While the dying Dr. Anders doesn't know that his wife is pregnant, she doesn't know about his problems and is, therefore, quite upset when he asks for a divorce.

But Dr. Casey discovers Dr. Anders' secrets, all of them, before the divorce action and this leads to the big finish: as Dr. Casey stands by and watches his

New Booklet to Aid Survival in Atomic Attack

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Iron and Steel Institute, in cooperation with the Office of Civil Defense, has prepared a new booklet designed to help Americans survive a nuclear attack.

The booklet emphasizes avoidance of gamma rays which, like X-rays, are highly penetrating and can cause serious damage to living tissue. Radioactive materials that live off alpha or beta particles present no problem to persons under shelter.

The booklet, soon to be available through state and local Civil Defense Offices, says a steel fallout shelter structure covered with sand or soil has many basic advantages, including efficiency, economy and sturdiness.

Titled "Steel Shelters for Fallout Protection," the booklet was published shortly after the government embarked on a $93 million program to choose sites for a million fallout shelters.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration will rack up back-to-back treasury deficits of more than $10 billion in the first 17 months of the new administration.

This is the probable total of the deficits for fiscal year 1961, which ended last June 30 and for fiscal '62. The treasury was in the red $3.9 billion at the end of fiscal '61.

Some weeks before the end of that fiscal year, Secretary of Treasury Douglas Dillon estimated that the deficit would be around $2 billion. For fiscal '62, Dillon estimated a $3 billion deficit. The secretary thought these deficits were almost fortunate, explaining that they would stimulate recovery and could be paid off from surplus tax receipts when prosperity returned.

Double the Estimate

Fiscal '61 almost doubled Dillon's deficit estimate. He now estimates a fiscal '62 deficit of nearly $7 billion. The total deficit of the two fiscal years probably will be closer to $11 billion than to $10. Defense spending is more likely to go up than to decrease in fiscal '63.

It is obvious, therefore, that tax revenue must increase mightily in fiscal '63 or that non-defense spending must be mightily reduced if another deficit is to be avoided in that year. It would be unrealistic—mere whistling in the dark—to expect the Kennedy administration to reduce non-defense spending enough to obtain a balanced budget, or to reduce non-defense spending at all.

The alternatives, therefore, are a great increase of treasury revenue from existing tax rates or an increase in the rates to obtain the needed revenue. That is, of course, if the President is determined to balance the U. S. budget. The alternative to uninterrupted government spending beyond government income is a continuing rotting and dirtying of the U. S. dollar.

Hodges Proposal

It is strange, therefore, to read that the businessman member of the Kennedy Cabinet now is proposing a tax reduction. The business-member is Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges. Speaking last week to the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Hodges proposed reduction of income taxes, individual and corporate.

Perhaps communication between the White House and the Commerce Department is not all it should be; indistinct, maybe or on crossed wires. However that may be, the President was not thinking in terms of tax reductions at his Oct. 10 news conference.

ence. He was thinking in terms of a possible tax increase to balance the next budget, which will be for fiscal year 1963.

If defense costs go up, the President evidently doesn't expect a fiscal '63 balance at all. Question: How about fiscal '64? Deficit No. 4?

No Conference Plan

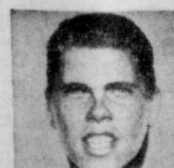

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy does not plan to hold a news conference this week. The White House gave no reason for the decision.
